MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Most reasonable people would not start a journey to anywhere important without a map and a plan. At the very least, you would use Google Maps, right?

Through a series of conversations and engagements over the past two years with thousands of members of the Kent State University family, it became very clear that this community has aspirations to take the university and its students to places and levels of distinction never before realized. And, so, we worked together to create the plan that will get us there.

A Strategic Roadmap to a Distinctive Kent State was developed through broad engagement across the university family under the leadership of a 13-member Strategic Visioning Advisory Committee. It is comprised of five priorities and 12 University-Level Initiatives (ULIs), all that map to the university's compelling mission, vision, and values.

The Roadmap also includes performance metrics to measure progress and a University Dashboard complete with six-year goals and both peer and aspirational institution comparative data.

With our Roadmap in hand and a dashboard to keep us pointed in the right direction, it is assured that we will reach our destination – a Distinctive Kent State.

Beverly Warren, President
Kent State University

1 Student's First

Provide an inclusive and engaged living-learning environment where all students thrive and graduate as informed citizens committed to a life of impact

Kent State's top priority is to ensure that students have the education, experiences and support they need to graduate and to live successful, satisfying lives in their work and in their commitment to become engaged citizens. Attention to academic quality and student success is a cornerstone of a student's first environment. This focus begins with the strategic recruitment of talented and diverse students and continues with the commitment to support students as they learn to thrive in an academically challenging environment. Key benchmarks of the Student's First priority are actions targeted to attract a talented freshman class, to improve first-year retention and graduation rates, and to increase degree attainment in a timely manner

Nirmala Ghimirey

BETTERING SOCIETY THROUGH SERVICE, RESEARCH, AND AN INSPIRING EXAMPLE OF DETERMINATION

Kent State University biology major Nirmala Ghimirey grew up in a refugee camp in Nepal. Upon coming to the U.S. at the age of 14, she met her mentors, Kent State Professor Dr. Terry Kuhn and his wife Elizabeth, who told her about the biology program at Kent. Graduating from Akron's North High School at the top of her class, Nirmala is now a student in Kent State's honors college preparing to graduate in December of 2016. She has served as a tutor for both biology and chemistry and has earned numerous scholarships. Nirmala landed a competitive research internship at the Moffitt Cancer Research Center in Tampa, Florida where she was applauded for accomplishing more in one summer than some graduate students do in a year. After graduation, Nirmala aims to continue her studies in medical school to earn both an M.D. and Ph.D.

“The One University Commission is NOT an assertion of equality, if by equality we mean that each campus should be the same, and that each campus should offer the same things... it is a recognition that we can be ONE UNIVERSITY, yet each of our campuses can, and do, look very different from one another.”

-Todd A. Diacon, Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost

A Distinctive Kent State

Drive innovation, idea generation and national distinction through top-tier academic and research programs including the recruitment and support of talented faculty and staff

Kent State University’s wealth of intellectual, physical and cultural resources makes it a whole that has a far greater impact than the sum of its parts. As one university with multiple campuses, Kent State serves as an economic driver and regional cornerstone in communities throughout Northeast Ohio. To best serve constituents across the region and beyond, it is imperative that there is clarity in the articulation of Kent State’s distinctive role as a public research university. A part of that distinctive role is the unique opportunity to form a cohesive eight-campus system spanning over a 500-mile radius of the Northeast quadrant of Ohio. As a large system with more than 41,000 students and offering more than 280 degrees from the associate

“If your roommate hasn’t been in America long and they aren’t familiar with our culture, you will have to get used to some different social norms. And they may find some of our American habits difficult to understand as well. But if one is able to remain open-minded and is up for new experiences, then the IVE program can be extremely exciting and rewarding.”
